WE NOMINATE

the 41 Princeton High School seniors and juniors, who have proved their qualifications for "senior citizenship" by winning Honor Awards for Meritorious Service, the highest form of recognition the school can bestow upon its students. Limited at the time of election to ten per cent of the senior class and five per cent of the junior class, which in 1950 is tantamount to being 1-in-23 and 1-in-42, respectively, the wearers of the Princeton Key are nominated and elected by faculty, and by fellow undergraduates, on the basis of "character, leadership and service," with service to the school rating the greatest possible consideration.

Currently, in its fourth year as a distinctive Princeton institution, the "Honor Key System" is dependent upon a rare kind of mutual understanding between teachers and the taught, and upon educational procedures aimed at the development of the well-rounded individual. The handful chosen in junior year become electors in senior spring and work hand-in-hand with the faculty, screening lists and documenting nominations with "adequate evidences" of tangible and intangible achievements.

This year's roster of honors-winners, on which the "weaker sex" holds a razor-thin 21-to-20 margin, is a cross-section of the school itself. There are class officers, topnotch athletes, members of the Leaders' Corps and both spectacular and quiet leaders in 25 branches of extra-curricular activity. One senior has won the largest scholarship a college has to offer, another has fought a winning battle with polio, still another throughout high school has averaged three hours of work a day before reporting for class at 8:30 a. m.

For building for the future on the strongest of foundations and devoting themselves to the service of others; for demonstrating that education in a democracy teaches people how to live as well as how to get a living; for becoming men and women of distinction at ages 16, 17 and 18; the above-named are TOWN TOPICS' nominees for

Topics of the Town

Random Notes. In a nearby New Jersey town, school is out for the year and the seniors are going to graduate without taking final exams. Envious Princetonians of like age are warned, however, that it took 600 pounds of munitions to turn the trick.

The community has been pleasantly invaded by an unusually large migration of scarlet tannagers. Charles H. Rogers of Haslet Avenue, well-known as an amateur ornithologist, informs us that such an influx from the tropics is a natural phenomenon occurring at irregular intervals with various species of birds. Some have flown farther north, but many others will remain to nest in and near Princeton.

One unidentified "institution," presumably of an educational or research nature, has been reported as interested in acquiring the Marquand estate on Stockton Street. The property is being sold through the Bankers Trust Co. of New York, with the household goods up at auction Saturday.

When the $1,000,000 Vermeer painting, "The Artist in His Studio," now on display in the Princeton Art Museum, arrived in town Monday, it was escorted by seven armed guards.

Mercer Engine Company No. 3 is looking for a particular person to whom it plans to give $50. The lucky recipient will be identified by drawing the door prize at St. Paul's School Thursday night.

Memo for next Fall: in one town where parking meters have recently been installed, owners of Austins and jeeps found they could rent the same stall for a nickel. Since the law said nothing about how many cars could be parked in the same space, nobody got a ticket.

Flower Show, Parade, etc. The week was one of organizational news. Plans were completed for the annual Community Flower Show, which will be open to the public in the Nassau Street School from 2 to 9 on Saturday. Entries must be made between 8:30 and 10:30; prizes in many different classes will be awarded and special awards will be made to the exhibitors scoring the highest number of points. Flowers, plants, shrubs, produce and numerous special exhibits are planned.

Princeton Post No. 76 was set for its Memorial Day parade, which next week would reverse the line of march of the past few years. Starting from the Battle Monument at 10:30 on Tuesday, nearly a score of civic and community groups will visit the St. Paul's and Princeton Cemeteries, where appropriate ceremonies will be held, before returning to the monument.

Peter J. McCrohan, post commander, is chairman of the committee in charge. Other members are William J. Birch, Arthur Brennan, George F. Cahill, Joseph Furch Jr., Harold M. Hinkson Sr., Harold M. Hinkson Jr., Eric Jungberg, James M. Keels, Walter Morrison, Harold Perrine, D. Don Richards and Dr. William L. Tucker.

The Community Players held their annual meeting, named Henry B. Ross, president; Mrs. Blackwell Smith, first vice-president; John F. Becker, second vice-president; Tristram Johanson, treasurer; Mrs. Bradford B. Locke, secretary. Trustees include Mr. Ross, Erling Dorf, Peter Cook, Mrs. Joseph Haight, Alan Poole.

ernors were Mrs. Mary M. Gibbs, Mrs. Ethel S. Brummer, W. B.
Claffin.

The Lions Club has nominated James Fraser for its next president, to succeed W. Fred Crandall.
Others will be Thomas Rowland, first vice-president; Earl L. Wilbur, second vice-president; Paul Giroux, third vice-president; Charles J. Rocknack and Fred Short for the board of directors; Paul Alford, treasurer; Robert Mangold, secretary; Arnold Pierson, tailtwister; David Burrough, lion-tamer.

A Dog's Best Friend. A few weeks ago, Mr. and Mrs. Sumner Rulon-Miller of Newlin Road found the day's well-ordered routine somewhat complicated by the addition of a sizeable litter of puppies to their household, already well represented by pets. The group's appearance was essentially one of complete geniality; with their ancestry in considerable doubt, the uncomplaining canines were promptly christened "Heintz Puppies," "Heintz" for "57 Varieties," that is.

As time passed, efforts to sell or give the friendly but growing kennel collection away proved fruitless. Last weekend, it was decided to auction them off at the Country Day School fair, and the plan went along perfectly to the last dog.
The bidding for him was spirited, finally reached $450.

The sale was about to be knocked down there, when a small voice from the rear said distinctly and firmly, "$452." The last and winning bid, it was made by the Rulon-Miller's son, Patrick.

After 40 Years. William R. ("Buster") Lewis is leaving the Princeton business scene after 40 years of service in the Nassau Inn and the Nassau Tavern. P.M.I. has announced that he has requested retirement, effective July 1.

P.M.I., announcing that "a mutually satisfactory financial arrangement expressing appreciation for his faithful services and loyalty" has been made, adds that his departure "will leave a void impossible to fill." Fortunately for his scores of friends throughout the community, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will remain in Princeton, continuing to make their home at 30 Nassau Street.

The Winners. The University's Laundry's annual sculpturing contest was won by Raymond Allen, whose carving of a reclining greyhound from a bar of soap was judged by Mrs. Alfred G. Mayor to show "real ability." Other prize-winners were Josephine Lisi, second; Sam Landberg, third; Delores King, fourth; Sam Jarve and Robert Stewart, honorable mention.

Miss Edith Margeur of the high school's art department directed the contest. Cash awards will be made to the winners at a forthcoming assembly program by

It's New to Us

"Merry Tiller," Obscurely-named on first impression, but appropriately-titled upon explanation, this new power tiller belong in the "Boon-to-Gardeners-and-Farmers-Department." Invented by a mechanical genius named Clayton Merry, the revolutionary, lightweight, rotary-type garden cultivator is being introduced for the first time in the East by two enterprising Princetonnians.

It plows, digs, harrows, weeds to within a fraction of an inch of plants, mixes fertilizer with soil—and for all we know will whip you up a cake! Not only can a woman easily handle its 1½ horsepower (motor by Briggs and Stratton) and 85 pounds, but so even can her 10 year-old offspring.

Unlike other, far more expensive garden tractors, for which several hundred dollars worth of attachments must be purchased to handle different kinds of work, the price of the "Merry Tiller" is not just the price of the distributors. With no extra attachments whatever, it's a tiller, cultivator, plow, spot digger and weeder. With a few economical attachments, it's a lawn mower, road grader, bulldozer, carrier, snow plow and poultry litter of fertilizer mixer. Other unique uses for it are constantly being reported by its owners.

Speaking of owners, we would like to let one of them do so for himself. His word, as a regular user, is more enlightening than ours as a one-time watcher. He writes to the distributors, "Last summer I noticed . . . in a feed and seed store a machine that looked quite different from anything I had ever seen . . . so I asked the dealer about it. He told me that it did a perfectly marvellous job . . . and said, 'Stop and ask Mrs. Cleary what she thinks of 'Merry Tiller,' so I did.

Mrs. Cleary said . . . 'It has saved us endless labor and much expense in tilling our gardens. I am so enthusiastic about it I have been instrumental in selling five machines just on recommendation.
I got no commission or anything out of those sales; just wanted friends to enjoy the boon I've enjoyed.'

So the writer arranged for a demonstration, selecting the nasti-est soil in his vegetable garden.
In a few minutes the machine made his "eyes bulge, as it . . . ground up that tough soil, ground the compost, mixed the compost with the soil to a depth of 10 inches and left the space in a pulverized condition as fine as flour, so I could run my hand down to the elbow, whereas formerly it was all I could do to drive a spade in it . . . I bought the machine on the spot.

"It is practically indestructible; will take a terrific beating and never quiver. The tines have never been known to break, though I have worked my machine in ground about 50 per cent big stones.
The rotors just kick them out and match on."

laundry manager John A. Archer.
 Mr. Archer has, incidentally, reside, he has a growing collection of appropriate antiques that have resulted in a considerable customer comment.

Among them are old flatirons that were heated with such fuels as charcoal or gasoline, many of them of the Civil War era; an old wash tub now used as an over-sized flower pot; ancient sock-stretching

News of the Theatres

Players' Plans. Princetonians who are willing to base their summer theatre selections on good plays and able acting without regard to the ballyhoo of Hollywood heroes and heroines touring the straw hat circuit will welcome the announcement that the University Players are coming back to Murray Theatre for another season. Seven plays, the final presentation lasting for two weeks, will be given starting July 24 and running to September 16.

Robert H. Chapman '41, who will direct each of the offerings, will be remembered for his work last Summer on "Arms and the Man" and "Measure for Measure." Now teaching dramatics at the University of California, he is co-author (with Louis Coxé '40) of "Billy Budd," a new play that is heading for Broadway in the Fall.

A number of leading roles will go to Peggy Kalmar Allison and Karl M. Light '47, both Intime veterans whose past performances have brought forth justly-deserved superlatives. Stewart Dunca, 2d will serve in the dual capacity of actor and business manager; Charles E. Fehoa will supervise the designing of the sets.

The repertory is in process of selection; it will include Shaw and Shakespeare and may offer a pre-Broadway run of a new piece by Lynn Riggs who wrote the delightful "Green Grow the Lilacs." The Players will welcome suggestions for the summer's program — they should be addressed to Mr. Light at 80 Stockton Street.

The name "University Players," incidentally, carries no little weight in the theatrical world. Just 22 years ago, the original group was formed at Falmouth, Mass. and from that Summer's activity came such names as Joshua Logan, Myron McCormick, Kent Smith, Norris Houghton, Bretnaig Win-dust, Mildred Natwick, Margaret Sullivan and James Stewart. The group's first reunion in 15 years was held last week at Mr. Logan's New York apartment.

THE PLAYHOUSE

No Man of Her Own (Thurs.-Sat.) records the adventures of Barbara Staawyck as an unwed mother-to-be who assumes the identity of a fellow-passenger killed in a train wreck to hide her secret. More stark melodrama follows when the ultra-villainous father of her child shows up and launches a game of blackmail. Several stand-out performances help offset the heavy, unconvincing plot.

Ticket to Tomahawk (Sun.-Tues.) has good fun with a western theme: the building of a railroad which must fulfill its contract by reaching Tomahawk on time with at least one paying passenger. Among the major obstacles to the run is the lack of track over a rugged 40-mile stretch. Dan Dailey, Anne Baxter and eye-filling Technicolor.—Continued on Page 8

Sports in Short

Fourth to First. Entrenched in fourth place ten days ago, Princeton's championship baseball team is now confronted with a chance to take a full game lead in the Eastern League. Setting the pace over Army, Cornell, Yale and Harvard, its nearest pursuers, it faces sixth-place Penn this Friday at 3:30. Rutgers, battling for a spot in the N.C.A.A. playoffs, will be here Saturday at 3.

While other teams were obligingly knocking each other off, the Tigers showed considerable authority in toppling previously unbeaten Cornell at Ithaca, 6-1. Four runs in the first two innings put the game away early and Ray Chirurgi coasted along in full control.

The sophomore from Yonkers High has now won eight out of nine, four of them in the last ten days. His league earned run average is a sparkling 0.85, one of the lowest in the history of the circuit.

Twin-M Troubles. It rained last Thursday and Friday, creating two more postponements for the Princeton baseball team. Monday night brought nothing better than a 6-6 tie with Plainsboro, but far worse than that, it brought a broken middle finger for catcher-manager Tom Brophy. He'll be out indefinitely, replaced by Roy Swingle.

Tuesday saw hopes of setting back first-place Belle Mead go aglimmering with a 7-5 defeat. Boh DiGiovanni absorbing the loss. Hopewell and Hightstown will be on Brokaw Field Thursday and Friday at 6:15. The Tigertowners are currently tied for second with a 3-1 record.

End of the Trail. For many a Princeton team, the Spring season was one of the best on record. Four of them—varsity tennis, freshman baseball, lacrosse and track—completed their campaigns unbeaten, while the golfers won nine out of 11 and the lacrosse team took eight and tied another against two defeats.

John Conroy's tennis players won ten in a row, polishing off Yale by an 8-1 count Saturday to record their final victory and win their first Eastern intercollegiate title since 1942. With Captain Raleigh alone a senior, there is little doubt that the Tiger netmen will maintain a high position in tennis circles in the immediate future.

Ernie Ransome's lacrosse ten pulled away from a 4-4 tie on Poe Field Saturday afternoon to whack Army by an 11-6 count. Don Hahn, a junior who seems assured of all-American honors, turned in a frequently spectacular performance.

view of the jayvees' time—six seconds better than the varsity, nearly two seconds faster than the winning Cornell varsity. Because the Tiger seconds who had won the Eastern jayvee title had also taken the varsity's measure in a time trial last week, Dutch Schoch switched the two boats wholesale.

For the third straight week, the shift brought the same frustrating result: faster time by the jayvees and a defeat for the varsity. Apparently, the extra pressure in rowing "the big race" tells. Marietta, Ohio, where the former Poughkeepsie regatta will be rowed on June 17, lies ahead.

Meanwhile, the 'fifties who had hoped to defend their Thames Challenge Cup in England were again beaten in the Eastern championships at Cambridge, placing fifth and all but losing out on a chance to go even unofficially. The jayvees were second, the freshmen third in seven-crew fields as Yale swept the river.

Princeton placed fifth in the Heptagonal track meet, Edgar Davis winning the broad jump with a good leap of 24 feet,  $\frac{3}{4}$  inches for the Tigers' only first. Sam Howell was third in the 440 and anchored the mile relay team which was also third.

Princeton High School's track team, heading for the Central Jersey championships Saturday, won its 23rd straight dual meet Monday afternoon when it crushed Somerville, 86 to 31. Clyde Thomas set the pace, accounting for 14 points when he won the 220 and the broad jump and tied with a team-mate for first in the high jump.

The Little Tigers' ball team avenged a previous defeat by topping Long Branch, 10-5. Bucky Osborne was the winning hurler; Tom Smith hit a triple and Bill Hogarty hammered a home run.

ed Colorado photography are all distinct assets.

No Sad Songs for Me (Wed.-Sat.) unfolds Margaret Sullivan's philosophy for dying when, happily married wife and mother of a small daughter, she learns cancer will prove fatal in a few months' time. A Hollywood first on the subject, it may serve as a warning to many a woman: as a film, it relieves its morbid theme with restrained acting and well-placed lighter touches but still ranks perilously close to being a straight soap opera.

THE GARDEN
Love Happy (Fri.-Sat.) mixes a mediocre musical with the usual fantastically-paced Marx brothers comedy, this one involving stolen jewels. Harpo's scenes are best but the zany trio's fans will not be disappointed.

Dear Wife (Mon.-Tues.), sequel to "Dear Ruth," is a family-type comedy about a young man who runs against his father-in-law for office, notwithstanding the fact that he is living in the latter's house. William Holden, Joan Caulfield in a light picture of average appeal.

My Brother Jonathan (Wed.), a British picture whose cast includes the late Leslie Howard's son, Ronald, records the loyal struggle of Michael Denison on behalf of his carefree younger brother and the girl they both love. Slow drama, well acted.

There's more still, but unfortunately there's not much more space here. There's nothing we can add to all of this, except to tell you that the amazingly low price is only $156.50. For the few extra dollars that the attachment costs, you can have a new lawn mower, which isn't high even for that alone, much less for a machine that does innumerable other jobs around lawn, garden and fields. For a free demonstration, call Gwin-Bourland, Distributors, at Princeton 2842-W.

"Kinetic" Shoes. To quote Old Colony Shoe Co., makers of the "Kinetic" shoes, "Every once in a while, a new product appears that's so unique, so superior, it creates an immediate sensation." To quote our own reaction, "When that something new is for men, it's super-sensational!"

An entirely new patented type of shoe construction involving resident inner linings that spring back into shape automatically and other features that are a bit hard to explain but can be seen in an intriguing cut-away half shoe—result in three revolutionary new improvements. One is crease and wrinkle resistance — the deep creases over the top of the foot that appear in men's shoes after comparatively little wear, causing a "beat-up" appearance, are virtually eliminated permanently.

Another advantage of the "Kinetic" construction is that it goes a long way toward preventing chafing and pinching. The third point is that the shoes keep their original shape.

In short, "Kinetics" not only look better much longer, but they feel better while looking that way. Good shoes for men are never exactly cheap; "Kinetics", being better than good, are even less so; but as a form of investment, they're worth the price. At Hult's Shoe Store, 140 Nassau.

Cole of California. We've seen Cole beachwear nationally advertised for years, thought it looked particularly attractive and wished it were carried in Princeton. Finally, it is, at The Clothes Line, and The Little Clothes Line, 33 and 53 Palmer Square, in the form of bathing suits and mother-daughter suitdresses.

Well-known for their styling and durability, particularly in elasticized waistlines which are featured, the Cole creations are also quite varied. The bathing suits, which start at $8.95, come in cotton, khaki, nylon and different forms of elasticized fabrics—all fully guaranteed to hold their shape which is not always true of those put out by other bathing suit makers. There are prints and a wide choice of solids; while styles range from feminine dressmaker suits to so-called "tank" suits—i.e., suits designed for real and serious swimming and diving.

One of the latter models is called the "Esther Williams," after the famous swimmer whose designs for Cole include this particular model for herself. It would be nice to think that any of us, stepping into it, would look as she, undoubtedly does in it! Anyway, it is cut so that it should at least have some effect in that direction.

The mother-daughter outfits are available in bathing suits or sundresses, both with the good-looking elasticized waistlines. The dresses are cotton, either print or plain, all cool and colorful. The daughter models have a convenient appealing touch in their matching

Year-Round Fur Insurance. The University Laundry, 28 Moore St., has added a unique and welcome feature to its very fine fur storage service instituted last year: an optional year-round fur insurance at a phenomenally low cost. Formerly, your coat, when stored, was automatically insured at the expense of the University Laundry for its declared value.

Now, because of the volume of such business done there, they have been able to obtain a floater policy covering damage, loss or theft, which will cover your coat during the eight or nine months when it is not in storage. This policy is obtainable at a much lower rate through the University Laundry than you could possibly get as an individual: a minute 40 cents per $100 in value. To be even more specific, if you lose an $800 coat in a checkroom or on a train or where-have-you, you can replace it by having spent $3.20. Need we say more?

Better Than Dry-Ice For "Seeding" Clouds

THORNE'S Drug Store has a sure-fire formula for producing "April showers that come in May." For two weeks we have had our display window stacked up with the finest assortment of sun-glasses seen anywhere for miles around. And, it rained and rained and rained. Now it looks like more rain.

It might not be a bad idea for the New York City authorities to conduct a campaign to have sun-glasses put in every drug store window in the metropolis!

But seriously, it cannot rain forever. When that sun comes out bright and hot, you'll need a good pair of protective glasses to keep those ultraviolet rays from doing damage to your sensitive seeing apparatus.

We have big sun glasses, little sun glasses, sun glasses for boys, sun glasses for girls, sun glasses for men and sun glasses for the lovely ladies who use them as much as an aid to mystery as for beauty and eye protection.

We have everything but a hot shining sun. That is coming soon — we hope!
